Moulton Niguel is Prepared for an Emergency

We are trained to be ready and prepared for any emergency and have taken steps to protect our water service. Our drinking water will remain safe and we are committed to providing you quality customer service.

Additionally, we want to share the following information with you because it may answer other questions you may have about our water services and emergency planning measures.

Ongoing Water Quality Testing

Moulton Niguel's drinking water exceeds all state, federal and Environmental Protection Agency water quality requirements. We conduct approximately 12,000 water quality tests per year that are independently analyzed at state-of-the-art laboratories. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the Coronavirus has not been detected in any drinking water systems.

No Reductions in Water

Nearly all of Moulton Niguel's drinking water is supplied by the Metropolitan Water District and is imported into our region. There have been no reductions in water supplies as a result of the Coronavirus.

Emergency Water Supply

Over the last decade, our District has invested significant resources to increase our water storage capacity. In the unlikely event of a major outage, we now have an emergency water supply for our community to last nearly four weeks.

Emergency Response Plan

Moulton Niguel maintains an emergency response plan, routinely practices emergency protocols, and trains all staff to handle any possible disruptions in service that may arise.

Just as the District has carefully planned for its customers over its entire 60-year history, we are ready and prepared for any emergency.

We also want to share our emergency preparedness tips and resources to help you and your families prepare, and to stay safe during any emergency. Visit mnwd.com/emergencypreparedness for more information.
